

Swan is one of the world's leading manufacturers of online measuring instruments and complete solutions for the water industry, located in Zurich Oberland. The current product spectrum ranges from applications for monitoring the quality of drinking water to feed water, steam and condensate in power generation, ultrapure water in pharmaceutical and semiconductor industries, pool and sanitary water and wastewater. Today, over 150 employees are situated at the headquarters in Switzerland, and approximately 300 people worldwide.

Are you proud of finding the best possible solutions, while still being pragmatic? We are looking for a

Software Developer (m/w) 100%

Your responsibilities

- Programming test systems (e.g. Data acquisition, HW calibrators, HW testers or adjustment systems) to support production and/or R & D
- Design and develop well organized and easy to read software source code for test systems (mainly in Java)

Your skills and experience

- Master's in electronics engineering
- Several years of software development experience

- Proficiency in Java (additional experience in C++ is an advantage)
- Fluent in English written and spoken

As part of the team, you will enjoy:

- A modern workplace
- Outstanding social benefits
- Home office possibility
- In-house gym

Don't hesitate and send us your CV and testimonials today: diana.vidale@swan.ch

SWISS  MADE